OUR BATTLE AGAINST RESPIRATORY DISTRESS SYNDROME IN NEWBORNS HAS HELPED BABIES AND THEIR FAMILIES BREATHE A WHOLE LOT EASIER.

The world is pretty tough if you're born with immature lungs. The tragic fact is Respiratory Distress Syndrome is the leading cause of death among newborns, killing over 7,000 babies each year.

But American Heart Association research scientist John A. Clements, M.D. is working hard to discover its causes — and cures. He has shown that victims don't produce enough of the crucial chemical that promotes full lung expansion. Knowing this, doctors can perform a pre-natal test for the presence of this chemical in the womb. If a problem is foreseen, drug therapy can help save the baby.

And Dr. Clements is continuing to develop new treatments for babies born with Respiratory Distress Syndrome.

We support thousands of projects as important as this one. But we need your help. A contribution to the American Heart Association is an investment in research that makes a difference. And even gives the littlest among us a bigger fighting chance.
